

Dear Birthmother,

Thank you for reading our profile. We appreciate the strength and love you shown by deciding to place your child in an adoptive home. Our greatest is to provide a child with a loving, supportive, and stable home and family. is some information about us.

Our whirlwind romance! Ross and Shira's journey together began in of 2001 at a Speed Dating event. Ross spotted Shira sitting at a table and couldn't wait to talk to her. He turned his head for a second and the event started. He walked over her table and found an empty seat. Shira had left. He was disappointed that he hadn't had a chance to meet her. Luckily, was called at the last minute to go to another event that weekend.

When he walked into the second event, there she was. Ross knew right that Shira was the girl he was going to marry, although she was bit more skeptical. However, Ross was persistent, and he quickly Shira's heart. After a brief, fun, and adventure-filled romance, they were married on Dec 2, 2001.

Since that day we have never looked back. Our road to completing our family with a child has not been smooth, but the reasons we fell in love keep reaffirming themselves, making our marriage and union stronger as we spend our lives together. We believe that fate brought us together and fate will send a child our way.

Shira & Ross

About Shira (by Ross)

Shira is a freelance communications consultant. This job combines her previous experience working in public relations with her masters degree in library science. However her job is just that, a job. She is her own boss, which gives her the flexibility to work from home, and stay at home with a child as well.

Shira is the kind of person that makes this world a better place to be. She has a great sense of humor, (at one time she was even part of a comedy troupe), a big heart, compassion and a love of life. She is happiest playing with our nieces and nephews and spending time with me outdoors and in our home. She is a weaver, enjoys cooking, reading and throwing small dinner parties for friends. She also loves the theater, movies and all kinds of museums.

Shira is at her best when others need her the most. Children are naturally attracted to her. She can bring the shyest child out of its shell and make the most unhappy kid smile. She never tires of watching the wonder in a child's eyes as it learns something new. She is going to be an amazing mother. My favorite thing in the world is to be with her.

About Ross (by Shira)

Ross is the vice president of sales and marketing for his family's business. Although work plays a big part in his life, he does a good job of balancing it with family obligations.

He always keeps me laughing, even at our wedding, as you can see in the picture. He is a caring and giving person with a great big bear hug, and a loving heart. His friends, many of whom he has known since childhood, would tell you that it would be hard to find a more loyal and trustworthy friend than Ross. He is my best friend.

Ross connects with all children, probably because deep down he is a big kid himself. In his free time he likes to go to the gym, bike, go to movies, cook and have play dates with our nieces and nephews. He is going to be a great father. I love every moment that I get to spend with him.
